Project Title: Camp Erin – Children Grief Camp

Project Description:

1. Describe the project:

Camp Erin is a weekend camp offered at no charge for children and teens who have experienced the death of someone close to them by providing comfort and grief education. The camp is provided by Hospice of Anchorage and took place Friday, September 25 to Sunday, September 27, 2016. The weekend is packed with activities to help the children bond and work with their grief in different ways. Most of all, the campers experience spending time with others like themselves: this helps normalize their grief and not feel so alone.

The project is to provide teddy bears and t-shirts: the teddy bears not only comfort the campers during the weekend, but go home with them to continue to help them as they grieve and adjust to their loss: the T-shirts are a safety factor – keeping tabs on their whereabouts without interfering with their bonding and activities.
