Dear John Biggs:

Thank you for calling me a few days ago to discuss the materials for and the potential cost of interpretive signs. The standard material that the Boise City Dept. of Arts & History (A&H) uses for interpretive signage is porcelain enamel. It is a lovely material that withstands the elements. Each sign costs around $3,000 for fabrication and installation.

If you have any questions, please call me at 208-608-7041, or email me at bburns@cityofboise.org.

Sincerely,

Brandi Burns
