The Brookings Area United Way is excited and thankful to be partnering with the Brookings Rotary Club on the Born Learning Trails initiative. These evidence-based resources will now be an option for free play for our community and help to build connections with the caregivers and the youth. Building resilient families is a focus for Brookings and the activities promoted thru the Born Learning Trail turn everyday life into learning experiences for children. We appreciate not only the financial support, but the volunteer labor from Rotary members to install these in our community.

We look forward to the continued relationship as we build a better community together.

Thank you,

Heidi Gullickson
