

The children in Missionvale face horrific poverty at best. Some are abused and broken. When they come to the playground however, they are able to forget about their circumstances, and at least for a part of their day, they let their imaginations run wild. They become little adventure seekers, explorers of the world, shrieking in delight as they climb up the ladder, crawl through the tunnel, swing as high as they can! The playground is a safe haven. It's a place where they create childhood memories which will be treasured forever. It is here where they can just be children, where they can dream about a brighter future. Thank you to all Rotarians for giving us this incredible gift.
